ASSESSMENTS SHOW A GOOD INCREASE

BUT IT IS EXPECTED THE STATE BOARD WILL CUT IT DOWN.

FULL MARKET VALUATION

Last Year the State Board Reduced It About One-Third of Total Amount.

The assessment of Nodaway County as returned by the assessors and which was published in yesterday's Democrat-Forum is based on a full market valuation of the personal property and real estate. This assessment shows Nodaway County to have a valuation of $71,081,692 or $9,475,216 more than was returned by the assessors last year. Last year's assessment of $62,872,462 as returned by the assessors was cut down by the State Board of Equalization to $24,683,933 or about one-third of the total amount. If the State Board would let the assessment for the county stand this year, there would be plenty of money from taxes for school purposes, for roads and county purposes and for city purposes. At present the schools, the county and the city are facing a crisis in that they are not getting sufficient revenues to do business with. It is the opinion of those in a position to know that the State Board will cut down this assessment. However the law provides the State Board to make assessments at its true value but this law has ever been followed by this board.

The assessments of the townships for this year are:

Atchison township township-total valuation by assessors on personal property, town lots and real estate, $2,286,008; real estate at $78 per acre.

Grant—total valuation $3,343,974; real estate at $88 per acre.

Green—total valuation $4,911,010; real estate at $99.

Hopkins—total valuation $3,682,257; real estate at $109.

Hughes—total valuation $4,839,952; real estate at $104.

Independence—total valuation $4,535,115; real estate at $95.

Jackson—total valuation $5,408,990; real estate at $99.

Jefferson—total valuation $2,502,992; real estate at $97.

Lincoln—total valuation $4,893,583; real estate at $104.

Monroe—total valuation $3,366,275; real estate at $96.

Nodaway—total valuation $4,182,035; real estate at $100.

Polk—total valuation $15,174,742; real estate at $119.

Union—total valuation $3,288,315; real estate at $92.

Washington—total valuation $3,518,666; real estate at $97.

White Cloud—total valuation $3,047,777; real estate at $76.

METHODIST S. S. WORKERS ORGANIZE ASSOCIATION

Young People Will Control Through Officers the Various Activities of Intermediate Department.

At a meeting of the teachers and a representative of each class of the Young Peoples department of the First Methodist church which was held Tuesday night at Perrin hall, a new organization was started and officers for the organization were nominated.

This organization is to be a young peoples association by which they control the activities, social, religious, recreational, etc., of the church and Sunday school. The organization is the outgrowth of a talk given by Rev. Earle Preston Wright of Kansas City during the late conference held in Maryville in which he advised the teachers and superintendents to retain duties, but allow the students of the Sunday school to control the activities under the guidance of their officers.

The officers nominated are as follows: president, Miss Gladys Ford; vice president and program, John Price; reception and records, Miss Laura Curfman; field secretary, Miss Vada Foland; absentee secretary, Miss Alma Tabler; religious secretary, Miss Eula Strader; social secretary, Miss Velma Appleby; recreational chairman for girls, Helen Dean; recreational chairman for boys, Prof Harry Ezell; treasurer, Clum Price.

A general social meeting at which the election of officers will be held will probably be called for March 5.

FIND SITUATION IDEAL AT MORGAN

MRS. LURA P. MARKLEY OF CHICAGO VISITS RURAL SCHOOLS.

MAKE EXCELLENT RECORD

Pupils in Vitalized Agriculture Doing Splendid Work—Other Schools Equally Good.

Mrs. Lura P. Markley, with the extension department of the International Harvester Company at Chicago, has recently been in Nodaway County visiting the various rural schools where vitalized agriculture is taught and studying the methods. At the Morgan school Mrs. Markley was particularly impressed with the work of teacher and pupils and has given the following interview:

"From the grey cold level prairies of South Dakota to the beautiful hill country of northwest Missouri, rich in forest trees which God has been growing for centuries, is a marked transition.

"We have visited schools housed in buildings ranging from the box car type painted billious green to the modern one-room and consolidated buildings complete in every equipment. But at Morgan school, Nodaway County, Missouri, we heard work and saw results that gives it a place among the best schools ever visited.

"The site of the Morgan school is quite ideal. There are trees to give friendly council to the pupils at play and the stones and the running brook tell a story centuries old. They form a part of Nature's open book of geography.

"To this school ground is soon to be added the teeter board, horizontal bar and the swing. If you ask the children 'How do you like to go up in a swing, up in the air so blue?' you know the answer, for 'the swing in the old apple tree' is one of the happy recollections of childhood. These children know that thrill.

"As the outer conditions of the school house approached the ideal so did the inner. The pupils had the poise and freedom which comes only from a keen interest in 'real things.'

"The teacher, Miss Lucile Snowberger, while a master of the situation, is the choice friend of each pupil.

"The recitation in advanced language, agriculture, geography, spelling and what not teemed with life and interest. The original designs added to the attractiveness of worth while note books.

"Harold Smith's work on the land survey showed that he could make land agents sit up and take notice when it came to locating by range, township and section. Miss Vae McDowell knows as much about 'bugs and things' that she undoubtedly could charm them like James Whitcomb Riley's Uncle Sidney did. Her knowledge of insects is not only marvelous but both practical and scientific.

"If every mother understood food values as outlined by Miss Rebecca Briggs, and fed her child a balanced ration as these pupils are serving at the noon lunch, there would not be so startling a number of children suffering from malnutrition in the United States, 60 per cent of which live in rural districts.

"Brooking Gex gave the points which distinguish the dairy type of cattle like an expert, and Louise Gex gave the final proof as to the amount of butter fat in milk as demonstrated by the use of the Babcock milk tester. She gave the test of cows on different farms in the district.

"The climax of the forenoon visit came when the guests were escorted to the dining room in the basement where a lunch was served that would do justice to a prince. Miss Allie Harman, Louise Gex and Curtis Harman were hostesses and host. The preparations were made without the assistance of the teacher. The basement is equipped with an oil stove and the essential culinary supplies.

"When I learned of the transformation of this school house and read the pupil's letter which awakened this fine interest upon the part of the board and in the community, we said, 'And a little child shall lead them.'"

This is the first Nodaway County school Mrs. Markley visited, but afterward she visited a number of others that she said she could have told the same story.

FARM BUREAU DRIVES OVER STATE HAVING GOOD RESULTS

Nodaway a Leader in Membership Campaign, Which Is Now State Wide.

Reports of progress made in farm bureau membership campaigns are contained in a letter written by Chester I. Gray, president of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, which show how rapidly this spirit of organization is developing over the state and that Nodaway County was one of the leaders in the movement.

Campaigns are being conducted this week in Johnson, Linn and DeKalb counties and progressing finely in the opening days. Mr. Gray writes:

"During the first half of the week, that is, up to Wednesday night, there were secured in Linn County, which is a $10 county, 417 members. In Johnson County, which is another $10 county, in the same time, the membership totaled 450. DeKalb County, a $5 county, reported for the same period 505 members.

"There has been somewhat of a slowing up in the drives since we went into Andrew County. This is accounted for by the epidemic of flu which is rampant all over the state at this time.

"Speaking campaigns are being conducted this week in Webster and Jackson counties. Monday morning a force of solicitors were placed in St. Louis, Jackson and Webster counties.

"The executive committee of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation met in Nevada Saturday to appoint the delegates from Missouri to the sessions of the American Farm Bureau Federation. The next session of the American Farm Bureau Federation will be held at Chicago, in the LaSalle hotel, March 3. At that time the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation must be in condition to qualify for membership.

QUESTION AS TO ITS INVESTMENT

DEPRECIATION OF PLANT CONSIDERED IN HEARING YESTERDAY

NO DECISION RENDERED

Public Service Commission Will Not Give Result of Case for Several Weeks.

On the question to be decided by the public service commission, as to whether the Hannamo Telephone Company is entitled to the increase of rates applied for, the chief points in controversy were whether the company has a right to ask a return on an amount as large as it claims is invested in the business; and whether the company should be permitted to set aside each year out of its earnings for the purpose of taking care of depreciation 7 per cent of the claimed value of its investment, as has been done by the company for several years back.

On the first point Mr. Whittaker, the accountant for the public service commission stated that he considered the value of the company's investment is only $60,000 instead of substantially $75,000, as is claimed by the company. This difference of about $15,000 represents an amount which Mr. Whittaker thought should have been charged off the books of the company as depreciation in the years 1912 and 1913, that being the amount which it was estimated the telephone property had depreciated up to that time when the company began to keep a set of books as required by the interstate commerce commission. The Hannamo Company contended that it had a right to claim a return on the full $75,000, which was admitted by both parties to have been the replacement value of the company's property in 1912, on the theory that any business has a right not only to charge rates high enough to pay a fair return on the amount invested, but also to meet the expenses of doing business in the way of depreciation and wearing out of the plant from use and exposure to the weather.

On the second point, Mr. Whittaker said that while there was room for argument about the proposition, he thought the company should not, during the past years, have charged up depreciation at the rate of 7 per cent on an investment of $75,000, but should only have charged up its depreciation at a rate of 5 per cent on an investment of $60,000. It was brought out by the telephone company in its cross-examination and by the testimony of its witnesses that a proper rate of charge for depreciation by telephone companies is from 6 per cent to 8 per cent, depending on whether the telephone lines are underground or are in lead cables or are exposed wires, the latter kind of construction being subject to more rapid deterioration and permitting the company to charge up a higher rate for depreciation. It was also shown that recently in St. Louis the public service commission permitted the telephone company there to charge up 5.93 per cent of depreciation, although most of the telephone lines are underground and is protected conduits, which is a much more permanent form of construction than exposed in small towns such as Maryville.

On the theory presented by the telephone company, allowing it to ask a return on an investment of $75,000, and to charge up depreciation at the rate each year of 7 per cent on this amount, the $3,259.43 net income of the company in the year 1919 represents a return of 4.3 per cent on the investment. If the valuation of $60,000 suggested by Mr. Whittaker be adopted, and the rate of depreciation be cut down to 5 per cent, the net revenue for the year 1919 would represent a return of nearly 8 per cent on the investment.

The Hannamo Company has paid dividends of 8 per cent during the past three years, but this is based on the par value of its capital stock as a corporation, which is $30,000. If the actual value of the telephone property is $60,000 this would represent a return of half that dividend on the amount invested.

It was also shown that the liberty bonds and war saving stamps purchased by the company and the bonds retired by it were paid for out of funds which had been set aside and accumulated for a number of years back and that this money was not derived from last year's income alone.

The decision of the public service commission as to the rates will not be made for a few weeks.

Tootle-Lacys Hold Undefeated Record—College Bear Cats in Excellent Playing Shape.

The eighth game of the State Teachers College basketball schedule will be played tonight with the Tootle-Lacy National Bank team of St. Joseph, instead of with the Central Wesleyan team as announced.

The Tootle-Lacys' line-up will probably be Crume, Wales and Arnold, forwards; Miller, center; Schoop, Goodman and Nidy, guards.

Population of Hopkins.

Strangers who visit Hopkins and ask the population of the town are always surprised with the answer, "around a thousand," thinking it to be a place of not less than from 1,500 to 1,800, judging from the number of houses and territory covered by them. The secret of the whole matter is explained by Frank Melick, who recently took the census of Hopkins on his own hook, and finds forty-seven homes in which but two people reside, and thirty-seven homes in which but one person lives and "a whole lot of them" in which three people comprise the entire family. Now, if these homes were inhabited by a "Roosevelt family," say a family of ten, Hopkins would have a population of about 2,000.—Hopkins Journal.

Every day sees new goods coming into our store and the shelves are fast filling with the things you will be wanting for this spring and summer.

With the thermometer almost down to zero it seems contrary to talk spring things—but spring will hit us all of a sudden some morning and we want to be prepared.

NEW SUITS AND COATS—
Are being added to the stock, and to say that they are good quality and beautiful style seems inadequate. You really should see them before the stock is unbroken.

Goods are also arriving and with the early coming of Easter this year the showing will be complete very early, and we want you to see them before choosing.

IN NEW DRESS FABRICS—
Our shelves are being filled with the season's newest things, and by the use of our Style Service and Pattern Department home dressmakers can begin now to plan the pretty dresses that can be made from these new silks and other fabrics in the handsome patterns we are showing.

There never was a time when spring things were fresher and prettier than the new styles this season, and what we have bought is characterized by good, substantial quality and reasonable price in addition to unquestioned style.

A visit to our store will help you in your spring selections, and you are welcome to "look" all you wish.

PREDICTS A PRICE LANDSLIDE

Crash Will Come Within Six Months, Chicago Commissioner Says.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Blame supply and demand if you like, but the country is due for price declines. Anyway that's the opinion of Maj. A. A. Sprague, Chicago fair price commissioner.

Another five or six months will be needed to drive the high price bugaboo to the toboggan edge and then the landslide will come, Sprague believes.

Low prices are conditional upon supply and demand and seasons according to Sprague. The effect of seasons is found in the recent drop of 21 cents a pound for best butter and the decline of 10 cents a dozen in fresh eggs prices, the commissioner says.

When fresh vegetables hit the market, canned food prices will crash downward, he believes. Other seasonal conditions will bring back the millenium of pre-war days before fall.

Meat prices now are wavering Sprague said, and fluctuations are being recorded daily. Fresh pork loins are quoted 2 cents lower than the offerings last November, pork chops have fallen 10 cents, tenderloin 10 cents, while round steak and lamb racks show advances.

Meat prices in five large cities outside of Chicago show a general downward trend, with the biggest sag recorded in mutton, which was 12 cents less in New York, 10 cents less in Dallas, Texas, and 5 cents less in Boston and Atlanta than November prices.

Retailers, charged with profiteering by Attorney General Palmer, found a defender in Sprague. He said retailers generally were aiding to lower prices and are "co-operating to the fullest extent."

CHALMERS

EVERYTHING in this Chalmers is new except the chassis. It has a new bonnet line, new coach line, new windshield, new top, new seat and seat springs.

They catch your eye, those lines, though they are marked by a reserve of rare good taste.

But in those multitudes of little details the real elegance is expressed—door handles, square doors, low sitting posit[illegible] deep tilt of the cushions, the rug on the tonneau floor.

Quality First

A volume easily may be written about them, and any one of them may alone tempt you to ownership.

Then when you've had your first ride, when you've felt the influence that Hot Spot and Ram's-horn have on the action of its master engine, when you've noted the utter silence, easy starting, the ready response, the easy effort "up underneath the bonnet" you, too, will say Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

Said a farmer to me the other day: "I get one now, but if my wife or my daughter or my son happens to meet the mailman I have to fight to get a look at it. Put me down for another subscription for so I can have a copy all to myself." That, said I to myself, is an idea worth passing on. It won't break any farmer these days to buy $2.00 worth of the Great National Farm Weekly—and if it will make peace in his family—say, come on. Line forms on the left!

You don't hesitate to buy two postage stamps so you and your wife can both write letters; or two newspapers so you can both read. Two copies a week of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN cost even less. The Governor of one state bought three subscriptions for his farm and two more for his office in the state capitol the other day. . . .

Of course I'm not arguing for two or three or five subscriptions until you have one. But the one is of vital importance to you, as well as to the wife and the boys. Winter Meals From Your Summer Garden.

IN the cold winter, when canned or fresh vegetables are so expensive, how fine it is to be able to go to the fruit closet and select a jar of home-canned beans, peas, beets, carrots, sweet corn, etc.

Home canning, or cold packing, proves most satisfactory when the vegetables are fresh from the garden. All varieties best suited to canning are easy to raise and big yields are the rule when grown from Northrup, King & Co.'s Seeds.

For 36 years our seeds have made gardening a source of pleasure and profit to thousands of "back yard gardeners." Join this vast gardening army—go to your dealers early and select packets of all the varieties you are fond of, from the convenient Northrup, King & Co. Seed Case. Standard size packets are only a nickel this year—and think of all the vegetables you can raise from one packet.

Builders Advised to Wait No Longer

(From The Literary Digest for Feb. 21, 1920)

Do not put off till next year the building that might be started this spring, is, in short, the advice given to perspective builders and investors concerned about building by Mr. Allen E. Beals, secretary of the Dow Service Daily Building Reports. Building costs are excessively high, but this expert insists that nothing is to be gained by waiting unless one is prepared to wait five years or more. As Mr. Beal reminds us in a signed article on the financial page of the New York "American," "after the Civil War thirteen years elapsed before the price of building materials reverted to pre-war levels." Even tho the price peak of materials may be reached in less time than that, it seems to this authority on the building market that there will be a high price level either at or above the present prices which will be maintained for a long time. So the best thing for the builder to do is to start his plans at once instead of waiting until next spring and find ing that prices are still higher. The builder need not expect a speedy job. Up to the present the lack of labor has been interfering with the completion of work, but Mr. Beals believes that "from this time forth the retarding factor will concern itself to the ability of getting materials as they are needed." But there are things "that are decidedly in the builder's favor," we are told; they include the present market-price for building material will not suddenly recede; he will be assured of high returns upon his enterprise for at least two years after the supply of building material and their prices return to an approximate normal, and he will get probably a better constructed building because less reliable contractors are now out of the market. Discussing the whole building situation Mr. Beals notes that "since the armistice a year ago the building interests have passed through a cycle of paradoxes that has no parallel in war or in any other era in the memory of business men."

Returns from California.

Ed Andrews is back from California to look after his farm near Maryville, but the family will not return for a couple of months yet, waiting until the weather is fully settled on account of the health of Mrs. Andrews. In speaking of California, Ed says the state has its good as well as its bad points and the past season has been bad on account of a scarcity of rain. All in all, Missouri is good enough for him yet awhile.—Hopkins Journal.

Stylish Hats

That Reflect the Spirit of Spring

A wonderful array of New Spring Hats is now on display in the Millinery Department. Special attention and thought was given in the selection of this unusual collection of the best spring models, and every detail was given to careful consideration.

Hats in large, medium and small shapes, broad brims, medium brims, medium low and yet full crowns low trimmings are features most prominent in this advance showing. There are some with supple brims that droop in graceful Gainsborough lines with flimsy sprays of glycerined or uncurled ostrich extending over the edge. Transparent Hats of hair and maline shapes are also much in evidence.

Black Hats are in abundance, while there are a number of natural colors and those of Spring hue in the assortment.

Ribbon streamers, tuscan braid, lace, piping, bright colored braid, natural and glycerined ostrich, wings and feathers, grass, fruit and flowers are all employed in the creation of the New Spring Hats.

Children's Spring Hats, in bonnet, droop brim and sunbonnet effects, crisp with chiffon, ribbon streamers and other adornments are a feature of this early Spring showing.

Lace Veils of black, brown, tan and gray, that drape gracefully about the brims, drooping over the edge to veil the face and the long ends hanging down the back. Veils with hand embroidery designs at edge and in all-over effect promise to play a big part in Millinery for the spring season.

Come in and try on the the new Spring Hats and see how becoming they really are.
